From the writings of Blessed John Henry Newman

Look around,
and see what the world presents of high and low.
Go to the courts of princes.
See the treasure and skill of all nations brought together to honour a child of man.
Observe the prostration of the many before the few.
Consider the form and ceremonial,
the pomp, the state, the circumstance ;
and the vain-glory.
Do you wish to know the worth of it all?
look at the Cross of Christ.

Go to the political world:
see nation jealous of nation,
trade rivalling trade,
armies and fleets matched against each other.
Survey the various ranks of the community,
its parties and their contests,
the strivings of the ambitious,
the intrigues of the crafty.
What is the end of all this turmoil?
the grave.
What is the measure?
the Cross.

Go again to the world of intellect and science:
consider the wonderful discoveries which the human mind is making,
the varieties of arts
to which its discoveries give rise,
the all but miracles
by which it shows its power ;
and next,
the pride and confidence of reason,
and the absorbing devotion of thought
to transitory objects,
which is the consequence.
Would you form a right judgment of all this?
look at the Cross.

Lead, kindly Light, amid th’encircling gloom, lead Thou me on! The night is dark, and I am far from home; lead Thou me on! Keep Thou my feet; I do not ask to see The distant scene; one step enough for me.

O God, who bestowed on the priest
Blessed John Henry Newman
the grace to follow your kindly light and find peace in your Church;
graciously grant that,
through his intercession and example, we may be led out of shadows and images into the fullness of your truth.
Through our Lord Jesus Christ your Son, who lives and reigns with you in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God for ever and ever.
